ПРЕСС-СЕКРЕТАРЬ
ПРЕЗИДЕНТА РОССИЙСКОЙ ФЕДЕРАЦИИ

Москва, Кремль

«03» октября 2008 г.
№ АБ-1202

Dear [REDACTED]

The Russian Presidential Press and Information Office confirms that all material from the Russian President's official website www.kremlin.ru may be reproduced in any media outlets, on Internet servers or on any other information supports without restriction on the amount of material and time of publication. This authorisation covers equally newspapers, magazines, radio stations, TV channels and Internet sites. The only condition is that any reproduction or broadcasting of the website's materials contain a reference to the original source - www.kremlin.ru

We cannot make reference on the Russian President's official site to the license Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 Unported, as this document is not on the statutes of the Russian Federation. At the same time, in practice we express our agreement with the Wikipedia community's copyright policy as reflected in the license Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 Unported.

You can consider this letter to be an official authorization for the members of the Wikipedia community to use materials with reference to www.kremlin.ru without restriction, which fully complies with the conditions of the license Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 Unported. You can also post a copy of this letter in PDF format on Wikipedia's resource base, enabling you to use it to support your arguments in discussions on copyright issues.

We thank you for your interest in Russia, its history and its life today.

Yours sincerely,

N. Timakova

Licensing:

This work is not an object of copyright according to Part IV of Civil Code No. 230-FZ of the Russian Federation of December 18, 2006.

Article 1259. Objects of Copyright

Paragraph 5

Copyright shall not apply to ideas, concepts, principles, methods, processes, systems, means, solutions of technical, organizational and other problems, discoveries, facts, programming languages.

Paragraph 6

Shall not be objects of copyright:

- official documents of state government agencies and local government agencies of municipal formations, including laws, other legal texts, judicial decisions, other materials of legislative, administrative and judicial character, official documents of international organizations, as well as their official translations;
- state symbols and signs (flags, emblems, orders, banknotes, and the like), as well as symbols and signs of municipal formations;
- works of folk art (folklore), which don't have specific authors;
- news reports on events and facts, which have a purely informational character (daily news reports, television programs, transportation schedules, and the like).

Full text of the Code: in Russian (<http://www.consultant.ru/online/base/?req=doc;base=LAW;n=64629;p=1>) (in English (http://original-web-site.cipr.org/legal_reference/countries/russia/Part_IV_of_the_Civil_Code.pdf)).

Comment – According to interstate and international compacts, the Russian Federation is the legal successor of the Russian Soviet Federative Socialist Republic and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics; therefore, this license tag is also applicable to official symbols and formal documents of the Russian SFSR and the USSR (union level^[1]).

Warning – This license tag cannot be applied to proposed official symbols and drafts of formal documents, which can be copyrighted.

1. ↑ The union level means that use of official symbols and the formal documents of 14 other Soviet Republics is the subject of law of their legal successor. See respective license tags.
