I have to now get started on writing the appeal on my $4 million DEATH PENALTY sentence and tomorrow is the drop-dead date; moreover, assuming the Internet is down and/or I cannot use one of the electronic services, could I count on you to fly to Dallas Texas and submit it on my behalf to the Appeals Court Panel?

I have taken your mindful-caring suggestions first deep into my soul which should sustain me at least for the next 5 hours while Marie is at her fine art painting class with Sebastian Capella; and perhaps you could do more work on that "summation" bearing in mind this is where I want it to be:

Not to mention, I first thought I would begin my Appeal with the following:

To be or not to be.

This morning, 119th anniversary of the Bankers Manifesto that began the extermination of the family farmer taking care of their families and local communities, I was awoken by [a] single stray bee who reminded me of this 2009 documentary Colony that my French-Canadian wife and I watched the other evening that deals with the loss of some one third of all the beehives in the United States in a very short space of time, and these beehive keepers who are at the bottom of the food chain amongst the farmers, who all use chemical pesticides that don't appear to be stopping at killing just the bugs that eat the plant life which God puts there to remind us to eat fresh everything but meat that the flies cannot get enough of the sh1t of meat excrement even before it leaves the tail section of our poisoned animal body parts food before we execute them, as the evidence mounts it may be affecting the DNA of the honeybees who are critical to the pollination of the flowers of nuts like almonds which are huge in California where it is almost impossible to find organic almonds, and the mostly fat TALKATIVE cell honeybee keepers may have missed the whole point of God targeting them first at the very bottom of the socio-economic totem pole to be more aware that it is not only their "Poverty of Thought" thinking that is not "helped" by them all going broke without anyone in the lardy dah scientific community with their genius thinkers not about to give them much if any handout as the less bess to pollinate could have them designing new pesticides that wouldn't prevent mechanical engineers from coming up with a robotic bee that does not lose its abdomen when poisoning humans on the CIA hit list.

The conversations are all about the huge amount of IN MONEY WE TRUST money that is needed to do the research of the dead bees to see if they are carrying any of the pathogens from the pesticides.

One solution I thought of was to simply ask honeybee keepers who use their bees to pollinate EXCLUSIVELY organic farms if they are experiencing the same death rate, or less and if it is more, then I will also consider going back to meat eating and do my best to feel a whole lot less healthier and fitter than I have been my entire life as a result of eating smart foods.

Not to mention if the organic farms in the study are close to non-organic farms to hire an out of work elementary school kid no less than 2 years away from entering high school to plot a graph showing if there is any correlation with the data coming from organic farms not close to non-organic farms.

When the bee left the cliff house without stinging either me or my F-C wife I then took Mango to do his wee. On the longer than usual initial walk I picked up two rather [large] firecracker remnants. You see the JADE FLOWERS on the left and the much thicker phallic looking PURPLE RAIN on the right, and behind them are the orange peel I picked up that I had left from yesterday's last heavy duty run on the beach which had lots of onlookers mesmerized as Mango galloped through the retreating waters and the salt water spray adding to the dazzlement.

Right now Mango is resting very snugly to my left as I face my Macbook Pro looking out over the ocean where I would much prefer to be other than I could think of worse places such as Budapest's Terror House's padded cell during the Nazi-Soviet era which had the full support of the US Government.

Not to mention, how I come about to have my vast knowledge of modern day History, Economics, Military & Politics [HEMP] is in great part the result of my very "close to her chest" very good figure British-English mother Zena Badash-Ash Gevisser who when writing in her September 25, 2001 memoirs, LIFE STORY OF ZENA that was first published via email, that" she made up her mind that they [her 4 children] must be trained to live outside of the country and sadly the land of their birth [South Africa] - CLICK HERE - she was not talking about her, rather than my Allied Fighter-Bomber-Pilot Bernie being the one training them, starting with me the youngest, on Harvard trainer aircraft

Ps - Michael, could you and anyone else interested please go through the very easy reading 47 page transcript - CLICK HERE - from the January 21, 2011 hearing/trial, and let me know what you think.

Furthermore, assuming there is further interest to look at the 8 page transcript of the June 30, 2010 hearing - CLICK HERE. Cutting and pasting, beginning page 6, line 8:

Judge Lowy: I'm going to put this on the record for what it's worth. I've reviewed the Original Petition. I have also attempted to review some of what Mr. Gevisser has presented to the Court in terms of his rather bizarre e-mails. And, clearly, he is a colorful character. However, you may know what your lawsuit is about. Mr. Gevisser may know what your lawsuit is about. But from reading your pleadings, I don't know what your lawsuit is about. And so it's going to be difficult for me to lean very heavily on him if he doesn't give you very good responses to your requests. Because to the extent you are asking him what his contentions and defenses are, you know, if it was me, I would have to say "defenses to what."

LOEWINSOHN [CIA Knuff's Texas lawyer]: And, Your Honor, I appreciate that. I do want you to know that there is some sensitivity --

Judge Lowy: Bailiff, would you make three copies of this, please.

LOEWINSOHN: I do want you to know that there is some sensitivity with respect to this case because, as the pleadings reflect, this case involves false accusations that have been made about -- very serious accusations that have been made about my client. And we have been very concerned about -- not for purposes of, as that term is used in libel law, republication, but we have been very concerned about perpetuating--I will say it that way--the nature of the false statements.

And, obviously, there is a remedy within the rules. There are a number of remedies within the rules for more specificity on the part of the defendant in a situation such as this; for example, interrogatories that are not normally of a public nature.

So I appreciate where the Court is coming from. And obviously at some point, depending upon how this case plays out, more specificity will need to be presented to you. But I at least wanted you to understand we were not oblivious to your point and your concern.

Judge Lowy: Well, and I sort of thought that that's what was going on, and it wasn't really intended as a criticism. It's just if the next step is that he doesn't give you any responses and you want me to sanction him --

LOEWINSOHN: Depending upon whether he makes a good faith attempt, I understand your point, Your Honor.

Judge Lowy: So that's all I wanted to bring up,

LOEWINSOHN: Right.

Judge Lowy: You may remember this better than I do. Did I not talk to him when he appeared telephonically about getting a lawyer?

LOEWINSOHN: You not only told him that, but you told him that he had waived any special appearance. But you admonished him several times that he needed to get a lawyer.

MS. SLOVAK [colleague of Loewinsohn?]: Right.

Judge Lowy: That's what I thought. All right. We will be adjourned on this matter.

Hi Gary

That's quite a mouth-full.

To critique such a sincere writing, would be to take away the essence of the piece.

There is so much sociological, economic, political and psychological depth in the writing that if one is over the age of 50, its almost too chaotic to remember the preceding concept from the next.

What I would really like to see, and what would keep one from straying beyond your very eloquent style, would be a summation of what you intend to prove.

In this piece, I intend to show how DeBeers through all its corruption has managed to...blah blah blah

This way one would have a focus when reading the body of the writing, and the interest would be kept because the desire to understand the concept would be linear.
